Dear Friends,

“Did you have a good summer?” The past few weeks I have frequently been asked this question by people who have prayed, served and gave to partner with Camp Conquest for the summer camp ministry.

In answer to that question let me share with you about a note I found on the ground outside of Sprecher Lodge. I assume this fell out of someone’s Bible ...

“Lord, I am scared of rejection and worry what others think of me. Please continue to remind me of why I am on earth. Not for my gain, but yours and the kingdom. Give me tools and a willingness to share the gospel to others and Anna especially.”

Yes, we had a great summer. Glimpses like the note above indicate that God is using the unique setting of summer camp to challenge the hearts of young people. We know of about 24 children and teens that accepted Christ as Savior. We know of many who made decisions similar to the note above, to serve God more intentionally. We are confident that many more decisions were sealed privately between campers, staff and God.

Thank you for your part in making summer camp a place where people can move closer to where God wants them to be. You are part of an exciting ministry of evangelism and discipleship. God is using your gifts to further His Kingdom through Camp Conquest.

Serving with you,

Michael R. Gehlert
